

Bernard F. McKay
Senior Vice President for Global Corporate Affairs
Intuit's Chief Public Policy Officer

Bernie McKay is Intuit's Chief Public Policy Officer and Senior Vice President, Global Corporate Affairs. In this role, Mr. McKay is Intuit's senior officer responsible for government affairs, industry relations, global public policy, and national corporate philanthropy.

Bernie joined Intuit in January 1998. Prior to that time, he served in a variety of capacities in both the private and public sectors. A former Vice President for AT&T, Mr. McKay served in government relations positions there in the corporate Public Affairs department, and later led the Emerging Global Markets business development group in AT&T Federal Systems. He also previously served as Deputy Chief of Hewlett-Packard's Washington Government Affairs office.

Prior to joining the private sector, Bernie was a Presidential appointee serving in Legislative Affairs for the U.S. Department of Energy, and previously worked for the Rhode Island Congressional delegation. Before joining government, Mr. McKay served in a number of staff and management positions in Presidential, Senatorial and Gubernatorial election campaigns.

Bernie holds a BA in Political Science from Providence College, and a Masters in Business and Public Administration from Southeastern University. He studied business, government and international affairs at the University College of North Wales (UK), the Hong Kong University of Science and Technology, INSEAD/CEDEP in Fontainebleau, France, and at the Indiana University School of Business.

Mr. McKay is a Board member of Computer and Communications Industry Association (CCIA), the Council for Electronic Revenue Communication Advancement (CERCA), and the Software and Information Industry Association (SIIA). He serves as a Trustee on the Board of Salve Regina University in Rhode Island, and on the Board of the Washington Shakespeare Theatre. Bernie is married to the former Mary McNulty of Newport, Rhode Island; they have three children.